Composite Characteristics:

The U.S. Momentum Composite was created in October 2016 and has an inception date of October 31, 2016. A complete list and description of all firm composites is available upon request. Accounts in the U.S. Momentum Composite have an initial universe comprised of stocks within the Russell 1000 index.

This composite is constructed of similarly managed, unconstrained, discretionary accounts in accordance with industry standards, and is a rules-based portfolio that is rebalanced periodically and typically holds between 200-350 securities.

Stocks in the U.S. Momentum portfolio must exhibit relatively strong fundamental and price performance. Stocks in the U.S. Momentum portfolio must pass liquidity screens. New accounts that fit the composite definition are added at the beginning of the first full calendar month for which the account is under management. Closed account data is included in the composite as mandated by the standards in order to eliminate a survivorship bias. U.S. Momentum restricted accounts (e.g., "sin-free" accounts) are not included in this composite. The primary composite benchmark is the Russell 1000 Growth index.

Benchmark Definition:

The Russell 1000 Growth index measures the performance of the large-cap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe. It includes those Russell 1000 companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. The benchmark returns are not covered by the report of independent verifiers.

The volatility of the index may be materially different from that of the composite. You cannot invest directly in an index. Index results assume the re-investment of all dividends and capital gains. In addition, client's holdings will differ significantly from the securities that comprise the index. The benchmark returns are not covered by the report of independent verifiers.

*Total Firm Assets does not include assets in any account where Cadence does not execute trades on behalf of the account. These assets are sometimes referred to as "Advisory-Only Assets." As of March 31, 2019, Cadence had $34,636,029 of Advisory-Only Assets.
